

Blackstone Secures New Diamond Drill Rig to Advance Mankayan Cu/Au Porphyry

Blackstone Minerals Ltd (ASX: BSX) ("Blackstone" or the "Company") is excited to announce its new partnership with KCA Site Services ("KCA) to jointly purchase a high-performance diamond drill rig, marking a pivotal move in advancing the world-class Mankayan Copper-Gold Porphyry Project ("Mankayan" or the "Project") in the Philippines.

This collaboration builds on Blackstone's proven track record in achieving industry-leading cost efficiencies, as previously demonstrated at the Ta Khoa Nickel Project in Vietnam, and reaffirms the Company's commitment to delivering the best possible results through innovative strategies.

Key Highlights

- Strategic Partnership with KCA Site Services:
 - Enables the joint acquisition of a specialised drill rig through a hire-to-buy arrangement
- Cost-Efficiency Success in Vietnam:

Blackstone previously achieved total "all-in" diamond drilling costs as low as US$50 per meter, by purchasing drill rigs and employing local workforce expertise at the Ta Khoa Nickel Project

- Cost-Saving Expansion to the Philippines:
 - Blackstone plans to replicate its cost-effective model at Mankayan, lowering drilling and geophysics costs significantly
- Drill Rig with Deeper Drilling Capacity:

The state-of-the-art rig will enable drilling holes to depths as deep as 1,800 meters (over 300m deeper than the current deepest hole at Mankayan)

Blackstone Minerals has partnered with KCA Site Services to expand its exploration capabilities at the Mankayan Copper-Gold Porphyry Project in the Philippines. Through a hire-to-buy agreement, this partnership facilitates the acquisition of a specially designed drill rig that can target depths as deep as 1,800 metres, essential for unlocking the full potential of this world-class project.

This initiative intends to mirror Blackstone's prior success in Vietnam, where the company significantly reduced costs by purchasing drill rigs and directly employing local drillers. By utilising the same approach at Mankayan, Blackstone expects to improve efficiency and substantially lower drilling and related services costs, such as geophysics work.

KCA brings deep operational expertise and a proven track record supporting major gold mining operations with equipment and labour. Their tailored services will enable Blackstone to efficiently mobilise and operate the new drill rig, advancing exploration efforts while optimising capital deployment.

This initiative is being overseen by David Kinnersley, Blackstone's drilling consultant, who brings extensive experience in drill program planning, equipment deployment, and operational efficiency across international projects. The drill rig is currently being procured and will be mobilised to site over the coming weeks. This rig will underpin the next phase of exploration at Mankayan, one of the most exciting undeveloped copper-gold porphyry systems globally.

Blackstone Minerals' Managing Director, Scott Williamson, commented:

"We're excited to kick off this next chapter at Mankayan with a smart, scalable solution that aligns perfectly with our capital efficiency strategy. Our prior success owning and operating rigs has shown us the value this model can unlock. Partnering with KCA allows us to move quickly and cost-effectively putting more metres into the ground and delivering more value to shareholders."

Adam Wilson, Managing Director of KCA, commented:

"We're proud to partner with Blackstone on this exciting copper-gold project. Our team is focused on delivering tailored, fit-for-purpose solutions that empower clients like Blackstone to move fast, operate efficiently, and extract maximum value from their drilling programs. We look forward to supporting their success at Mankayan."
