Future Generation Australia's (ASX: FGX) Board of Directors has increased the interim dividend for the tenth consecutive year, reflecting our commitment to delivering a consistent stream of fully franked income to shareholders. The Board's decision to announce an increased fully franked interim dividend of 3.6 cents per share demonstrates our confidence in Future Generation Australia's investment portfolio and unique structure.

The Future Generation Australia investment portfolio increased 1.7%^{} in June, taking the 12-month investment portfolio performance to 10.8%^{}. Since inception, the Future Generation Australia investment portfolio has outperformed the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index and the S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index, with less risk[#].

The fully franked interim dividend of 3.6 cents per share represents an annualised fully franked interim dividend yield of 5.8%[^], grossed-up dividend yield of 8.3%^{^^}, and takes the dividends since inception to 81.6 cents per share, including the value of franking credits. The Company has increased its dividend every year for the past decade, demonstrating the sustainability of its investment model and ability to deliver a growing stream of fully franked dividends through varying market conditions.

Dr Philip Lowe, Chair of Future Generation Australia, said: "Future Generation Australia's long-term investment performance and unique structure has given the Board the confidence to bring forward its decision to increase its fully franked dividend. Providing shareholders with early information about the upcoming increased dividend is particularly important in the current environment where sustainable and growing income streams are harder to find and macroeconomic uncertainty remains elevated.

I would like to thank our shareholders for their continued support of our social impact partners and children and youth at risk, who are also facing challenges and uncertainty."

Caroline Gurney, CEO of Future Generation Australia, said: "We are pleased to have delivered solid risk-adjusted investment portfolio performance and a strong fully franked dividend yield for shareholders. Thanks to our pro bono fund managers, whose disciplined investment approach has resulted in the Future Generation Australia investment portfolio outperformance since inception, with less risk[#] than the broader market."

The Future Generation Australia Investment Committee has selected leading Australian fund managers who have a proven ability to outperform the market and their peers over the long term. This has resulted in the investment portfolio having a tilt towards high-quality small and mid-cap companies.

While recent market gains have been led by large-cap stocks, the Investment Committee continued to believe smaller, high-quality companies offer the greatest potential for long-term outperformance.

Over the past 12 months to 30 June 2025 the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index outperformed the S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index by 0.9%, largely due to the concentrated performance of a few large-cap names such as Commonwealth Bank of Australia (ASX: CBA), which accounts for 11% of the index.

[#]Risk is measured by volatility. Volatility is a statistical measure of the dispersion of returns for a given security or market index. Volatility is measured by standard deviation, and can be thought of as an assessment of the risk in the investment portfolio. In most cases, the higher the volatility, the riskier the investment.

About Future Generation

Future Generation Australia (ASX: FGX) and Future Generation Global (ASX: FGG) are Australia's first listed investment companies that offer both investment and social returns.

Future Generation provides shareholders with exposure to leading Australian and global fund managers with the aim of delivering long-term capital growth, a stream of fully franked dividends and preserving shareholder capital. This group of leading fund managers manage more than $1 billion in assets on a pro bono basis, waiving their management and performance fees, which allows the Future Generation companies to donate 1% of their average net tangible assets each year in our social impact partners and other not-for-profit organisations.

Shareholders are able to decide which social impact partner or other not-for-profit organisation will receive the annual social investment, whether it's supporting children and youth at risk (FGX) or investing in the promotion of wellbeing and prevention of mental ill-health (FGG). Since inception, the Future Generation companies have invested $87.2 million in Australian not-for-profit organisations, putting the group on track to donate more than $100 million by 2030.

In December 2024, Future Generation launched Future Generation Women, Australia's first philanthropic women's investment fund. As an unlisted trust, Future Generation Women aims to deliver strong investment returns through a combination of income and capital growth, while making tangible strides towards gender equality in Australia.
